- Striving to achieve the highest quality of our service and products on time and within budget.
- Have an engaged management team actively involved in reviews of audit results and feedback from all areas of the business

Doing so provides continual quality review and improvement in our Business Management System. It is the Company's belief that in operating to these standards it will be more effective, efficient, meet the requirements, and wherever possible exceed the expectations of our customers.

Exclusion of Clause 8.3: Design and Development of Products and Services

Inspectahire has determined that Clause 8.3 of the ISO 9001:2015 standard, which pertains to the design and development of products and services, is not applicable to our operations.

Justification for Exclusion:

Inspectahire does not engage in the design and development processes for products and services. Our primary business activities involve providing inspection services using established and proven technologies and methodologies. As such, the nature of our services does not require us to undertake any design and development activities as outlined in Clause 8.3.

Our focus is on delivering high-quality inspection services to our clients by utilising existing tools and techniques rather than developing new products or services. This ensures that we can maintain the highest quality standards and meet customer expectations effectively.

By excluding this clause, we can streamline our quality management system to better align with our actual business processes and focus on areas that are directly relevant to our service provision.
